

NASHVILLE, TENNESSEE

BACKBEAT HIGHWAY

Classic songs. Deep roots. Played like they still matter.

Classic rock • Soul • Blues • Roots • Country • 1970s/80s favorites

FIVE SEASONED PLAYERS

Decades of road, studio, songwriting, production, and Nashville live-music experience.

FULL-EVENING REPERTOIRE

A deep songbook built for clubs, festivals, private events, community events, and listening rooms.

THREE LEAD VOICES

Distinct vocal personalities let the set move naturally from soul and classic rock to blues and roots.

NASHVILLE-AREA BAND

Professional, musical, audience-aware, and focused on making the room feel good.

BOOKING / MEDIA CONTACT: [ADD BOOKING EMAIL] • [ADD PHONE] • [ADD BAND WEBSITE]

Songs people know. Players who know what to do with them.

Backbeat Highway is a Nashville-area five-piece built around songs people already know and love - but played by musicians with enough road, studio, songwriting, and live-performance mileage to make them feel alive again. The band moves comfortably through classic rock, soul, blues, roots, country, and the sophisticated pop of the 1970s and 1980s, with three distinct lead voices, deep instrumental versatility, and a rhythm section shaped by decades of real-world playing.

The repertoire is intentionally broad without feeling random. A Backbeat Highway night can move from Van Morrison, Steely Dan, and the Eagles to Otis Redding, Joe Cocker, Santana, Lynyrd Skynyrd, Chris Stapleton, the Doobie-era groove of classic radio, and a late-set Hendrix moment. What ties it together is feel: strong vocals, musical dynamics, recognizable hooks, room-conscious pacing, and arrangements that respect the songs without turning the show into note-for-note impersonation.

Behind that sound is an unusually experienced group of players: a veteran Nashville touring bassist who worked with Eddie Rabbitt, Johnny Rodriguez, and Pam Tillis; a Los Angeles studio owner, producer, engineer, bassist, guitarist, and vocalist; a formally trained Nashville drummer with road, TV, studio, Cannery, and ministry experience; a multi-instrumentalist shaped by the Beatles, Steely Dan, original rock bands, and a life in education; and a Detroit-rooted guitarist, singer, songwriter, and 'songcatcher' whose musical life has stretched from Michigan bands of the late 1970s through decades of Nashville-area rock, blues, country, and roots projects.

Backbeat Highway is seasoned but current, polished but never sterile. The band is serious about the music without taking the fun out of the room. The goal is simple: serve the song, serve the groove, read the room, and make familiar music feel good again.

Booking Snapshot

SOUND	PERFORMANCE
Classic rock, soul, blues, roots, country, sophisticated pop, and Southern-rock colors.	Groove-first, vocal-forward, dynamic, audience-aware; familiar songs without tribute-band imitation.
REPERTOIRE	BEST FIT
A full evening of recognizable material, balanced between danceable favorites, listening songs, and guitar-driven moments.	Clubs, private events, festivals, community events, corporate gatherings, and rooms that value real musicianship.

REPRESENTATIVE REPERTOIRE

Familiar enough to sing along. Deep enough to keep musicians interested.

Backbeat Highway builds sets for flow rather than genre silos - moving naturally between groove, soul, classic radio, blues, roots, and guitar-driven rock.

Soul / Groove

- | | |
|-------------------|--------------------------|
| • Domino | • Ain't Too Proud to Beg |
| • Feelin' Alright | • Gimme Some Lovin' |
| • Dock of the Bay | • Unchain My Heart |

Classic Rock / Radio

- | | |
|--------------------------------|---------------------|
| • Rikki Don't Lose That Number | • 867-5309/Jenny |
| • Call Me the Breeze | • Breakdown |
| • Working for a Living | • Gimme Three Steps |
| • Hurts So Good | • Take It Easy |

Blues / Roots / Southern

- | | |
|------------------------------|--------------------------|
| • Rack 'Em Up | • Little Wing |
| • Tennessee Whiskey | • Magnolia |
| • Every Time I Roll the Dice | • Rainy Night in Georgia |
| • Black Magic Woman | |

Deep-Cut Crowd Favorites

- | | |
|-----------------|----------------------------|
| • Spooky | • Mama Told Me Not to Come |
| • Baby It's You | • To Love Somebody |
| • Wicked Game | • Love Me Two Times |

Representative titles are drawn from the band's working setlist and are subject to change as the repertoire evolves.

Five different musical lives. One bandstand.

MIKE MANCOUR Lead & Backup Vocals • Guitar • Slide • Harmonica • Songwriter	CHUCK VAUGHN Lead & Backup Vocals • Bass • Guitar • Producer/Engineer
KYLE MOON Lead & Backup Vocals • Keyboards • Guitar • Bass • Harmonica	BARNEY EVERS Backup Vocals • Bass • Guitar • Keyboards • Flute • Harmonica • Songwriter
RICK MASON Drums • Percussion

The strength of Backbeat Highway is not that everyone came from the same place. It's that they didn't.

MIKE MANCOUR

Mike Mancour

Lead & Backup Vocals • Guitar • Slide • Harmonica • Songwriter

Mike Mancour is a guitarist, vocalist, songwriter, and multi-instrumentalist whose musical life stretches from Michigan bands of the late 1970s to decades of Nashville-area club work, songwriter circles, variety bands, blues projects, rock stages, and current live performance. Detroit-rooted and Nashville-seasoned, his playing draws from Motown, blues, classic rock, country, soul, and roots music, with expressive lead and rhythm guitar, slide guitar, harmonica, and a strong instinct for serving the song. After moving to Tennessee in 1990, Mike's work expanded through Nashville clubs, show bands, regional one-nighters, songwriter circles, benefit gigs, and long-running projects including Hot Ice, Orange Crush, Instigator, and BluesSlinger. Songwriting has remained a parallel thread throughout his musical life. Mike is also the founder of iDreamMusic, a songwriting and creative-development platform built around helping songwriters strengthen ideas, songs, and craft while keeping the human songwriter at the center of the process. His public artist archive at mikemancour.com documents a musical thread running from 1978 to the present. In Backbeat Highway, Mike brings lead and backup vocals along with guitar, slide, harmonica, songwriting instincts, and a lifelong feel for connecting with a room.

Artist archive: mikemancour.com • Founder, iDreamMusic

BARNEY EVERS

Barney Evers

Backup Vocals • Bass • Guitar • Keyboards • Flute • Harmonica • Songwriter

Barney Evers is a Nashville native, veteran bassist, guitarist, keyboardist, flutist, harmonica player, songwriter, and recording musician whose career spans decades in the city's working-music community. He studied guitar and string bass in the University of Tennessee jazz program and went on to perform bass with major country artists Eddie Rabbitt, Johnny Rodriguez, and Pam Tillis. Across the years, Barney has played guitar, bass, and keyboards around Nashville while also writing and recording original music. His recordings have featured an accomplished circle of musicians including Billy Crain, Billy Anderson, Andy Byrd, Mackin P. Davis, Bob Mater, Michael Lind, Bart Rollins, Tim Murphy, and co-writer Mill Haynes. He is also comfortable on harmonica and flute, and maintains a catalog of roughly 35 original songs. In Backbeat Highway, Barney brings backup vocals and the calm authority of a musician who has spent a lifetime on the road, in the studio, and inside Nashville's collaborative music culture.

CHUCK VAUGHN

Chuck Vaughn

Lead & Backup Vocals • Bass • Guitar • Producer/Engineer

Chuck Vaughn is a bassist, guitarist, vocalist, producer, and recording engineer whose career has crossed the independent music scenes of Florida and California before bringing him to Nashville. During the 1990s and 2000s he performed in a variety of indie bands as both bassist and guitarist. In downtown Los Angeles, Chuck owned and operated the independent Panel Room recording studio for seven years, producing and engineering numerous albums for other artists while also releasing his own work under the nom de plume Twin Lens Reflex. After relocating to Nashville following one of Southern California's wildfires, he quickly became part of the local blues, roots, and Americana community. Chuck brings Backbeat Highway an unusually broad perspective: inventive bass, solid rhythm guitar, powerful lead and backup vocals, and the ears of a producer who understands dynamics, tone, arrangement, and how to make a band sound like one band.

KYLE MOON

Kyle Moon

Lead & Backup Vocals • Keyboards • Guitar • Bass • Harmonica

Kyle Moon has been making music since he picked up a guitar at 13 after discovering the Beatles. His influences include Steely Dan, 1970s soft rock, jazz, classic rock, and the sophisticated pop craftsmanship that still shapes his playing today. Over the years he became a multi-instrumentalist on guitar, bass, keyboards, and harmonica. Kyle spent more than a decade performing original music with Kentucky-based Atomic Solace before joining Nashville's Stratton 13, another original rock band. After stepping away from performing to raise his children and build a career in education, he returned to the stage with Backbeat Highway. As the band's keyboard player - with bass, guitar, and harmonica always within reach - Kyle also contributes lead and backup vocals, adding another distinct voice along with harmonic depth, arrangement awareness, and the perspective of a musician who has spent his life listening closely to how great songs are built.

RICK MASON

Rick Mason

Drums • Percussion

Rick Mason is a Nashville native and veteran drummer whose musical life spans formal percussion study, road work, Nashville entertainment, television, studio recording, and years of music ministry. After earning a business degree at the University of Tennessee in Knoxville, Rick continued his music education at Middle Tennessee State University on a percussion scholarship, performing in jazz ensemble and symphony settings. His band later signed with a Nashville agency and worked the Holiday Inn and Ramada Inn circuits throughout the Southeast, along with fraternity parties, private events, festivals, dance clubs, and bar dates. After coming off the road, Rick became house-band drummer at Nashville's Cannery for five years, a period that also included television appearances and album recording. He later spent roughly 16 years in studio and session work, recording multiple projects including four original Christian albums, and devoted 14 years to performing at the Nashville Rescue Mission Recovery Center. In Backbeat Highway, Rick brings the steady time, discipline, and quiet musical authority that only decades behind the kit can build.

A band built for the room.

Backbeat Highway is available for Nashville-area clubs, private events, festivals, community events, corporate gatherings, and other engagements looking for recognizable music delivered by experienced players with strong vocals, real dynamics, and a professional approach.

What a buyer gets

- A deep, flexible repertoire that can support a full evening of music.
- Three lead vocal personalities and a lineup with extensive multi-instrumental depth.
- Professional players with touring, studio, production, songwriting, television, and long-term live-performance experience.
- A set philosophy built around pacing, audience connection, groove, and songs people actually want to hear.
- A mature, dependable band that takes the music seriously without taking the fun out of the room.

Media & booking assets

- Current band photo: [ADD]
- Live performance video: [ADD LINK]
- Band website: [ADD URL]
- Social media: [ADD LINKS]
- Booking contact: [ADD NAME / EMAIL / PHONE]
- Stage plot / input list: available on request

Classic songs. Deep roots. Played like they still matter.